Truman Condition Serious, Top Specialists Called

Ex-President Passes Crisis After Operation

Mrs. Bess Truman Remains at Side of Husband

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A group of the nation's top medical specialists was to consult today on the "serious condition" of former President Harry S. Truman.

Mr. Truman was reported to be slightly improved after a good night's rest, but still serious at Research Hospital here.

The call for specialists was issued after the 70-year-old Mr. Truman passed a "crisis" in his convalescence.

The former President's condition took a dramatic turn for the worse early Sunday. He has been in Research Hospital since June 20, when an emergency operation was performed to remove a gangrenous gall bladder and an infected appendix.

Robert Adams, administrator for the hospital, said late Sunday night that specialists "from all over the country" were either en route to Kansas City or already there to confer on Mr. Truman's condition.

Number Specialists Unknown

Adams did not specify how many specialists had been called or exactly when they would confer. However, it was understood the physicians would consult with Mr. Truman's doctors at various times during the day.

Adams refused also to be specific on the specialists' fields.

However, it was known that Mr. Truman's condition started failing Friday night when he developed atelectasis, a lung disorder. The next night he developed enteritis, an inflammation of the bowels.

His temperature rose abnormally to 102 degrees early Sunday and he was placed on the critical list. Later in the day it fell to 99.2 degrees.

Adams said the complications "did not arise primarily from the operation itself" and were partly due to "a hyper-sensitivity to many needed drugs."

However, hospital officials overcame the former President's insistence that he receive no special treatment when they moved him to a room on the east side of the building and installed air conditioning.

Mrs. Bess Truman, the nation's former first lady, was by her husband's side during most of his crisis. However, no visitors other than close members of the family were allowed into Mr. Truman's room.

Mr. Truman's daughter, Margaret, said at Binghamton, N. Y., that she was obeying her father's wishes in sticking to her acting career. Miss Truman is attempting her first dramatic role in the play "The Autumn Crocus."

Dr. Wallace Graham, Mr. Truman's personal doctor and former White House physician, said he was "not happy" about Mr. Truman's condition, but added he "would be all right."

ARTICLES ARE PLACED IN A COPPER BOX by Charles H. Thompson, member of the Methodist church building committee, preparatory to its placement in the cornerstone of the First Methodist church building. Mr. Thompson is shown receiving an item from the Rev. Dale Harmon, district superintendent of the Harrisburg district. The Rev. W. C. Cummins, pastor of the church, stands at the microphone to announce the various items to the congregation over the public address system. The box was constructed by Bill Stain. The cornerstone, which weighed approximately 290 pounds, bears the words, "First Methodist Church Founded 1856 Erected 1954." Rio Grande Flood Waters Maroon 400 Travellers

By United Press

A record-breaking flood crest surged down the Rio Grande, marooning 400 travellers, today and bad weather was blamed for an air crash that killed 14 persons.

Elsewhere in the nation Dixie simmered in a heat wave that flood crests rolled between king-sized Iowa dikes to the Mississippi. The Rio Grande floods, touched off by the first hurricane of the season, reached an all-time high of 34 feet at Del Rio, Tex., and smashed the international bridge at Ciudad Acuna, Mexico. At least two persons have drowned.

The marooned travellers around Langtry, Tex., included 180 passengers of the Southern Pacific Railroad Sunset Limited. Army and Air Force helicopters staged a "little Berlin airlift" to get them out.

Near Riverside, Calif., a giant Air Force KC97 Strato-tanker crashed into the side of the fog-shrouded Box Springs Mountain Sunday. All 14 crewmen aboard were killed.

The crackup was blamed on poor visibility resulting from a heavy overcast.

The Iowa floods, which battered Des Moines dikes with a record-breaking crest last week, appeared tamed by the strengthened levees downstream. At Des Moines about 1,000 persons had returned to their homes and started the back-breaking job of scraping mud from living room floors and drained out-basements.

Lightning Sets Fire To Three Wheat Fields

Lightning yesterday set fire to three wheat fields on the McCue land in Cottage township. Rains that followed extinguished the flames before there was much damage.

Wheat caught fire in fields on farms operated by Eugene Miller and J. C. Miller. The wheat on a farm operated by Edson Patton already had been harvested and the straw in the field ignited.

Injured When Auto Overtakes

Donald Gideumb of Eldorado sustained a long laceration on his leg last night when his auto overtook near Raleigh on the Raleigh-Eldorado pavement. State Policeman Guthrie Alexander said Gideumb lost control of the machine when he pulled back onto the pavement after wheels hit the shoulder. The car was wrecked. Alexander said Gideumb was treated at Ferrell hospital.

Cornerstone Laying Ceremonies Held at New Methodist Church

Cornerstone laying ceremonies were conducted Sunday morning at the site of construction of the new Methodist church building on West Poplar street.

Despite the 105 degree temperature prevailing at the time, several hundred members gathered during the regular morning worship hour to witness and participate in the service.

The Rev. W. L. Cummins, pastor of the church, presided over the service and cornerstone laying. At the conclusion of the program, the stone was placed in the building, and Charles H. Thompson, local attorney and member of the church building committee, applied the mortar.

The service was opened with congregational singing led by John Schork, and following the call to worship, the Rev. Dale Harmon, district superintendent of the Harrisburg district, gave the morning prayer. Lessons were then read from the Old and New Testaments, after which the morning offering was taken.

Items in Old Cornerstone

The Rev. Cummins called upon George Davenport to present the items found in the cornerstone of the old church building recently torn down. The box contained these items: A Holy Bible, Methodist Discipline of 1900, a pin tray with picture of the church and a likeness of the pastor, Rev. A. S. Maxey inset in the corner, three small vials containing corn, oil and wine, emblematic of the oil of peace, wine of joy and corn of plenty.

Other items were a photo of Rev. and Mrs. Maxey and their daughters, personal cards bearing the names of Miss Hallock and Mrs. Chilton Edward Byington, three coins—two dimes and an Indian head penny, minutes of the Southern Illinois conference, issue of Sept. 18 to 23, 1901, held at Alton, Ill., lists of the Masonic Blue Lodge officers, Chapter officers with memento of the order, and names

Elect Democrats To Support Ike, Douglas Urges

Senator's Address Opens Democratic State Convention

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas today called for election of a Democratic Congress to assure support of "all that is decent" in President Eisenhower's legislative program.

The Illinois Democrat, in a speech prepared for his party's state convention, said Democrats are "putting principle above partisan advantage" and "saving the President on certain crucial issues" which are opposed by "virtually the whole Republican party."

Douglas listed Democratic opposition to the Bricker amendment to limit the President's treaty-making powers, and support of the administration on social security and reciprocal trade legislation.

"The Tragic and the Comic" "Never have we seen a greater combination of the tragic and the comic than when the embattled Republicans are resisting the effort of the Democrats to enact the President's program," he said.

"All that is decent in the President's program will be better furthered by the election of a 'Democratic Congress' than by a Republican victory," Douglas said.

Main business of the afternoon convention session was expected to be nomination of three candidates for University of Illinois trustees, and selection of a committee to draft the 1954 state platform.

Those slated for trustee nominations were incumbents Mrs. Frances B. Watkins, Chicago, and Wirt Herriek, Clinton, and Kenney Williamson, Peoria, endorsed to succeed Robert Z. Hickman, Danville. Speechmaking is on tap at a banquet tonight, at which Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) will deliver the main address on the subject of "The Republican Record—Compromise and Confusion."

Stevenson, Illinois Sen. Paul H. Douglas, David E. Mallett, candidate for state treasurer, and Mark A. Peterman, nominee for state superintendent of public instruction also will speak.

Stevenson, the unsuccessful 1952 presidential nominee, arrived here by plane Sunday night. It was his first visit to the capital since he turned the executive mansion over to Republican Gov. William G. Stratton in January, 1953.

Moon to Blot Out the Sun In Eclipse on Wednesday

NEW YORK (AP) — The moon is going to blot out the sun Wednesday and everyone east of the Rockies can have a look if they get up early enough and if there is no overcast.

But the best place to have the look is from a path about 75 miles wide beginning in northeast Nebraska and cutting diagonally across Minnesota, Canada, the North Atlantic, Scandinavia, Soviet Russia, Iran, and ending in India.

The blot-out will be complete along that path—nothing will be left of the sun but a halo for a minute or two. Elsewhere it will be a partial eclipse. In New Orleans about 60 per cent of the sun will disappear behind the moon.

Guided Missile Research

In this electronic-atomic age we human beings know so much about eclipses, we're going to see if we can use this one on Wednesday to get distance measurements which will permit pinpoint accuracy in sending guided missiles over thousands of miles.

Even though it makes us human beings seem even smaller and less important in the mighty scheme of the cosmos, the mechanics of a solar eclipse are quite simple. The moon gets between us and the sun. For the few minutes it stays in the way, the sun is blotted out or eclipsed.

That's from our point of view. If we were looking at the earth from the moon, we'd see the moon's shadow projected onto a

Gwaltney is Appointed Departmental Adjutant by Legion Commander Driemeyer

James S. Gwaltney of Harrisburg has been named departmental adjutant of The American Legion, Department of Illinois.

Announcement was made today that he had been appointed to the highest salaried post in the Legion's state setup by State Commander Edward Driemeyer of Herrin.

Since December, 1946, Gwaltney has served as an organization officer in the Illinois Legion. He is a World War II veteran.

In naming Gwaltney to this high post, Commander Driemeyer declared that he chose Gwaltney as departmental commander because of his knowledge of Legion affairs and because he believes Gwaltney is the man to do the job. Driemeyer said he was happy to be able to give the post to a southern Illinois Legion member.

This post in the Legion is one where traditionally the person who holds the office continues to be appointed as long as he proves satisfactory and until he gets ready to resign.

Present adjutant is Leonard W. Esper, who plans to resign in July. Gwaltney will take up the post at that time with Esper working with him until after the state and national conventions.

Driemeyer said that the executive committee of the Legion, composed of district and division commanders, must approve Gwaltney's appointment although this is a formality.

Gwaltney recently was honored by his home Legion post when George Hart post of Harrisburg gave him a life membership in the post. He is the only man to be so honored.

Gwaltney said he plans to keep his residence in Harrisburg although he will spend much time at Bloomington, departmental headquarters.

16 Killed, 36 Escape Death In Air Crashes

By United Press

Sixteen persons died Sunday in air crashes near Columbus, Ohio, and Riverside, Calif., and 36 others escaped in the crash landing of a DC-4 passenger liner at New York.

An American Airlines Convair and a Navy twin Beechcraft crashed in the air at Columbus, Sunday night. Two men aboard the Navy plane were killed, but the 34 passengers and crewmen aboard the Convair escaped with minor injuries.

Fourteen were killed at Riverside when a huge Air Force gasoline tanker smashed into a mountain peak in a heavy morning fog. Pilot Shifts Passengers

The New York crash landing occurred when the nose landing gear of a Colonial Airlines plane locked on takeoff. The pilot brought the big ship down safely at LaGuardia Airport by moving his passengers to the rear. This lifted the damaged landing gear above the runway as the plane landed.

The Columbus crash occurred as the Navy plane and the passenger plane approached the runway for a landing. Authorities said both planes had been cleared to land.

The Navy plane apparently smashed into the underside of the passenger plane, killing John R. Hoerath, 25, Westerville, Ohio, the pilot, and Donald Gavin Edgar, 48, Columbus, a flight observer. Both were Naval Air Reservists.

J. C. Pollard, Nashville, Tenn., pilot of the Convair brought his ship down in a skid landing east of the Columbus Airport.

The Convair was en route from Memphis, Tenn., to Cleveland, Ohio. The Navy plane was on a training mission to Purdue University Airport.

The Riverside, Calif., crash was blamed on a heavy overcast. The plane was prevented from landing at March Air Force Base as scheduled because of the weather and instructed to proceed to Norton Air Force Base, about 10 miles northeast.

It hit Big Springs Mountain with a deafening roar just below the 3,000 foot summit. The ship was on route from its home field at Altus Air Force Base in Oklahoma.

Eisenhower, Churchill Issue Joint Statement

Final Declaration On Talks Will Be Made Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill announced today the United States and Britain "will press forward with plans for collective defense" in Southeast Asia.

In a joint communique issued after four days of "friendly and fruitful conversations," they said the effort to build a mutual defense system in the Red-throated corner of the Far East will be made regardless of whether a truce is signed in Indochina.

The purposely vague and general language of the communique gave no firm indication to what extent either nation had yielded on the different approaches to Southeast Asia security that prevailed before the Eisenhower-Churchill talks.

The agreement to press for "collective defense" measures, however, could be interpreted as a diplomatic victory for the United States, which has urged "united action" through a Southeast Asia defense pact to halt the march of Communist aggression in the area.

Sidestep Eden Plan Perhaps significantly, there was no mention in the communique of British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's proposal to negotiate an "Asian Locarno"—a non-aggression treaty with the Communists. The United States had strongly opposed the idea.

Today's communique, which will be followed by a more detailed declaration of Anglo-American views Tuesday, also prodded France and Italy to ratify the long-stalled European Defense Community treaty providing for German rearmament. The language used in this section carried a broad hint that the United States and Britain will not wait much longer for action on EDC before thinking of other measures to restore German sovereignty.

The leaders said they also "discussed technical cooperation on atomic energy" and agreed that it would benefit both countries. Legislation is now pending in Congress to authorize a broader exchange of information.

The section on Southeast Asia suggested that the statesmen canvassed two broad alternative strategies to be followed, depending on whether or not France signs a truce with the Reds in Indochina.

Southeast Asia Discussed "We discussed Southeast Asia," the two leaders said, "and in particular examined the situation which would arise from the conclusion of an agreement on Indochina. We also considered the situation which would follow from failure to reach such an agreement."

"We will press forward with (Continued on Page Eight)

Urgent Summons

The WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND
by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Congressman Halleck Pulls Politics On Philip Wilkie;
Senator Hunt's Staff Deprived
Of Going To Funeral; Shivers' Stand Shaken.

WASHINGTON. — White House friends point out that like could save himself a lot of headaches if he knew a little bit more about domestic politics, or if he had someone close to him in the White House who did.
For instance, Eisenhower could have saved a disagreeable Senate debate over McCarthy's friend, FCC Commissioner John Doerfer.
What Eisenhower didn't know was that Philip Wilkie of Rushville, Ind., son of the late great Wendell Wilkie, was being urged on the White House for appointment to the Doerfer spot when the latter's term was up.

Young Wilkie is the son-in-law of F. Peavey Heffelfinger, executive treasurer of the Republican National committee. He represents the anti-McCarthy wing of the Republican party and no Democrat could object to his confirmation.
However, Congressman Charlie Halleck, who also comes from Indiana, rushed to the White House and demanded that Doerfer be reappointed. Apparently Halleck didn't want a bright young Republican like Wilkie challenging his power in Indiana. Also Halleck was under pressure from McCar-thyites to push through the Doerfer appointment as soon as possible.
Hastily, the White House acted.
As a result, Doerfer is also already facing Senate debate on his confirmation, and has aroused criticism that Eisenhower talks critically of McCarthy one day and appoints a McCarthy friend to a key post in the administration next day.

HUNT'S FUNERAL.
The office staff of the late Senator Hunt of Wyoming was kept from attending the funeral of their chief by Senate Sergeant-at-Arms Forest Harness.
Harness barred them on the grounds of economy, despite the fact that the plane carrying Hunt's body from Washington to Wyoming departed with 36 empty seats.
What happened was that four senators were appointed as official mourners to escort Hunt's body back to his home. But the funeral plane had 40 seats, leaving 36 seats and Hunt's entire staff asked to go. Sergeant-at-Arms Harness said no.

Then Hunt's two top assistants,
Ira Whitlock and Mike Manatos made a special request for themselves alone. They were also turned down by the GOP ex-congressman from Indiana.
TEXAS TROUBLE.
Finally, at the very last minute when Manatos and Whitlock went to the airport to see the body of their dead chief depart, word came from Harness that the two men could occupy two of the 36 extra seats. But with only minutes to go, it was too late even to notify their families, and the plane flew on to Wyoming with 36 empty seats.

Svelte, handsome Allan Shivers, the Texas governor who bolted the Democratic party to Eisenhower, was considered a shoo-in for re-election a short time ago. Now he doesn't look so sure.
The reasons are: 1, resentment against a governor running for a third term, and Shivers will be running for his fourth; 2, Shivers' bolt from the Democratic party; 3, the insurance scandals that have been rocking Shivers' administration.

Sea Level Lifted
Sea level in the distant past the world.

The world's most sensational popular singer and recording artist, Eddie Fisher, has been announced as the headliner for the Labor Day night grandstand revue at the 1954 Du Quoin State Fair. Combining the ease and simplicity of his full-voiced style with the charm of his boyish, unsophisticated personality, Fisher will present during the 2 1/2-hour show a generous songbook of his numerous RCA Victor record hits.
The Mills Brothers will also be featured in the Labor Day night revue. The 1954 Du Quoin State Fair dates extend from Aug. 29 through Labor Day.

Eddie Fisher, Mills
Bros. at Du Quoin
Fair on Labor Day

DU QUOIN, Ill. — Eddie Fisher, one of the nation's top recording and television singing stars, will headline the 32nd annual Du Quoin State Fair's Labor Day grandstand stage revue, according to officials of the southern Illinois exposition.

Featured with Fisher in the single evening's performance will be the perennial vocal favorites, the Mills Brothers. Nationally-renowned dance and variety acts will complete the billing for the 2 1/2-hour presentation.

Both Fisher, whose rapid rise to stardom is defined by veteran showmen as one of the most phenomenal in the profession's history, and the Mills Brothers will include in their songbooks the best-known of their record hits. Fisher will start with "Anytime" and move through to his latest, "My Friend," while the Mills Brothers, including Dad Mills with his muted bass obligato, will parade their hits from "Paper Doll" thru
"The Jones Boy."

The Du Quoin State Fair, which had a record attendance of more than 400,000 persons last year, will begin its 9-day 1954 run on Sunday, Aug. 29, and, in accordance with its established precedent, will close with the Labor Day presentations.

Mail orders for tickets for the Eddie Fisher revue are being accepted, starting this week.

11 Orphaned by Drownings to 'Stick Together'

CHICAGO — A family of 11 children, apparently orphaned by a giant wave that smashed the Chicago lake shore and killed at least four, vowed today to "stick together — no matter what happens."

Divers meanwhile scanned the bottom of Lake Michigan for the bodies of the father and two other persons missing since the "seiche" rolled out of the southeast and tore along the city's beachline early Saturday.

Mary Gabriel, 48, mother of the 11, was swallowed up when the wave hit the breakwater at Montrose harbor. Her husband, Edward, 49, is presumed dead although the body has not been recovered.

They Were Inseparable

"He must have gone down trying to save Mom," said his daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Palcowski, 28.
"Mom and Dad were inseparable."
Other sons and daughters, ranging in age from 14 to 29, also spoke of the closeness of their parents.

"They always went hunting and fishing together," said one. Another said, "Dad even went to the store with her—even when he wasn't needed to carry heavy packages."

"We're not going to break the younger kids up," said Mrs. Palcowski, one of the five married daughters.

Keep Younger Ones Together

"Each of the married girls could take one, but we think they should stay together. All of us can chip in to put Charles, 16, Jim, 15, and George, 14, through school, and Sylvia, 20, and Loraine, 19, will be able to keep house for them."

U. I. Students to Carry Identification Cards with Pictures

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN, Ill. —
Beginning next fall all students at the University of Illinois will carry identification cards bearing their pictures.

A new double lens camera, which was recently developed, has been purchased by the University. The camera simultaneously takes a picture of the student and his identification card. After the film is processed the student has an ID card which is actually a photograph with a small picture of himself and other pertinent data.

The ID cards will be the last stage of the registration process following the paying of fees. The pictures will be taken and the ID cards will be distributed the following day. The University Photographic Laboratory will take the pictures which will be developed by a commercial photographer.

Federation Asks Legal Action on Gov't Strikers

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois
Taxpayers Federation today released a statement calling for a crackdown on public employees who go on strike.

The statement said the Federation's executive committee voted June 21 to authorize the organization to take legal action against government employees who strike to the damage of taxpayers' interests.

George Mahin, Federation executive secretary, said "public employees have no legal right to strike."

"Any public employee who refuses to report for work when ordered to do so could be fired, losing pension and civil service or tenure rights," Mahin said. "However, elected public officials haven't had the courage to put a stop to public employee strikes by firm action. The result is that strikes and threatened strikes are being used more and more by public employee groups to coerce elected government officials into granting employee demands." "As a result," said Mahin, "public employees who go out on strike are now liable to find themselves involved in litigation through a taxpayer's suit."

The federation said recent strikes have included city garbage collectors, street workers, school janitors and school teachers, and police and firemen have threatened to strike.

Rescue Girl, 5, After Two Days On Mountain

MARKLEEVILLE, Calif. (AP)—A logger who "tried to think like a 5-year-old" found little Kathy Paxton near the summit of an 8,500-foot Sierra Nevada mountain pass where she had wandered for two days.

Alvin Van Dell, 30-year-old logger from Pine Grove, Calif., rescued Kathy Sunday on the west side of Kit Carson Pass, two miles southeast of the camp from which she wandered Friday evening.

She was sleepy and hungry after her ordeal, but otherwise in good spirits. An ambulance took her to the home of friends in Carson City, Nev.

Had Black Eye

The little girl had fallen and blackened her right eye and had suffered a cut on the back of her head, along with several bruises. However, Capt. Edward Ludell of Stead Air Force Base, near Reno, said he was amazed there was no sign of a cold or chest congestion.

Kathy spent two nights in the open in temperatures that fell as low as 34 degrees. She was wearing only a red cowboy suit under a light sweater.

She had come with her mother and stepfather, Stephen Crandall of Cupertino, Calif., and her 6 1/2 year old brother, Petey, to camp at Wood Lake in El Dorado National Forest, Friday evening and Petey walked to public rest rooms a short distance from the Crandall camp. Petey came back, but Kathy did not.

The meeting will be the first assembly of its kind to be sponsored by the General Board of Lay Activities of The Methodist Church, with headquarters in Chicago.

Theme of the conference will be "Methodist Men Work for Christ." Among the principal speakers who will address the meeting are: Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., Washington, D. C., who is a Methodist layman; Lem T. Jones, Kansas City, president of United Church men of the National Council of Churches; and Bishop Richard C. Raines of Indianapolis.

Fran H. Faber, Minneapolis, Minn., is general chairman of the conference.

Seeks Damages as Result of Collision

Joe M. Jackson has filed a complaint seeking auto damages that resulted from a collision Dec. 26, 1953, naming LeRoy Handley the defendant.

The complaint, filed in circuit court by Atty. Robert D. Winters, asks $400.93 for damage to Jackson's auto. The cars collided at Jackson and Walnut streets as Jackson was travelling south on Jackson and Handley was going east on Walnut, the complaint states.

Requests Burial In Wife's Grave

KIRK BURTON, England — The last will and testament of Septimus Daniel Gilbert revealed today that he wanted to be buried in the same grave with his wife.

On the tombstone he requested that the following words be inscribed: "Daniel in the lion's den."

Pegler is Guilty Of Libel, Federal Judge Tells Jury

NEW YORK — Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld told a jury today that columnist Westbrook Pegler had libeled writer Quentin Reynolds and directed it to decide to what extent the "defamatory" column had damaged Reynolds' reputation.

The jury of eight men and four women began deliberations at noon in the $500,000 suit brought by Reynolds against Pegler and two Hearst corporations and the counter-suit brought by Pegler against Reynolds.

"I charge you as a matter of law that the column is defamatory," Judge Weinfeld told the jury of Pegler's 1949 diatribe against Reynolds' courage and morale. "It exceeded the bounds of qualified privilege."

He told the jury that no evidence had been presented to support the truth of two statements in particular: That Reynolds had been seen "nudging along the public road with a wench" and that he had proposed marriage to the widow of the late Heywood Brown in Brown's funeral procession.

Arraign Illinois Communist Official

CHICAGO — Claude Lightfoot, executive secretary of the Communist Party in Illinois, was arraigned before U. S. Dist. Judge Philip L. Sullivan today on a charge of conspiring as a member of the party to overthrow the government by force and violence.

He was ordered held in $50,000 bond. Sullivan told him that he might, as soon as he obtained additional counsel, come into court and ask a reduction of the bond.

New Guatemala Regime Defies Rebel Ultimatum

BULLETIN
—The Guatemalan radio today announced the formation of a three-man military junta to rule the country and said that the Communist party had been outlawed.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — The new Guatemalan regime of Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz today defied an ultimatum of the anti-Communist rebel forces to oust and arrest all Communist officials and contact rebel headquarters or face all-out air attacks on the capital.

Rebel leader Gen. Carlos Castillo Armas, who made the demands and issued the ultimatum, promptly called upon the army, headed by Diaz, to rebel against the government and join "the liberation movement."

Castillo charged that Sunday night's resignation of leftist President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman and his surrender of powers to Diaz was "a complete violation of the constitution."

"A regime of ignominy and hate continues," Castillo said.

He pledged his forces to "continue the war until such time as Guatemala is free of rascals, who have bloodied and dishonored it, and until we have established the peace, to be brought about by the crusade of liberty."

"Under these conditions," he said, "we believe the army has the grave duty to rebel, to back our task and join the legitimate rebellion."

In an earlier message broadcast by the rebel radio to the new regime, Castillo had warned that unless it made contact with his rebel headquarters by 8 a. m. CST this morning all-out air attacks would be made against the capital at Guatemala City.

Blind Ex-Marine Saves Three From Drowning

MOBILE, Ala. (CP)—Ex-Marine Charles Vines, 22, blinded by a mortar shell in Korea, was hailed as a hero for saving three persons from drowning in a rescue by sound.

Barbara Wood, 15, and Annie Louise Ball, 18, were wading along the banks of the swift Pascagoula River near Lucedale, Miss., late Sunday when they stepped into deep water and were quickly swept into mid-stream.

James Peacock, 22, recovering from an illness, attempted to rescue the girls and he too was swept into mid-stream by a strong undercurrent. He shouted his predicament to Vines.

Vines, realizing he was the only one who could prevent them all from drowning, swam to the girls as they cried out for help.

Since he could not see, he directed himself as best he could in the direction from whence their cries came.

Girl Swept Back
Barbara's mother, Mrs. James A. Wood, who with her husband was about a quarter of a mile from the scene, said Vines caught hold of the Ball girl and told the Wood girl to hang onto her.

When they were about 40 feet from shore the Wood girl loosened her grip, saying "I think I can make it now." By the time Vines pulled the Ball girl ashore, however, Barbara had been swept back into mid-stream again.

Vines swam an estimated 200 yards, directing himself again toward the cries of the Wood girl and reached her just as she was going down. He brought her to shore, then had to rescue Peacock whose recent illness had left him too tired to swim back to the river bank.

Vines, blinded May 9, 1952 while fighting with the 1st Marine Division in Korea, said "my sides started hurting and my legs were stiff when I started back after Barbara. I didn't think I could make it, but you just can't give up when you hear someone yelling for help."

NEA President Warns Shortage of Teachers Will Hit Public Education

NEW YORK (AP)—The biggest convention of teachers in history got underway here today with a warning from the president of the National Education Assn. that, "unless something drastic happens to provide more teachers in the next three or four years public education in some parts of the country is going to collapse."

More than 20,000 educators registered for the six-day program of the 92nd annual NEA convention, which will feature daily sessions at the United Nations General Assembly.

Most critical of the problems in the wide range of educational topics to be discussed in scores of meetings rooms scattered over the city is the acute shortage of teachers and classrooms.

Short 300,000 Teachers
"By next September we will be short 300,000 teachers," William A. Early, president of the association and superintendent of the Savannah and Chatham county schools in Georgia, said in an interview. "I hope from this convention will come a further realization of our problem on the part of school people and parents."

"We now have 30 million students in public schools, and by 1960 we will have 36 million. The way it looks now we will have no more teachers. We're not adding more teachers than we lose each year."

Early pointed out that the problem was not one that could be solved by teachers, but by the public.

This convention, first to be held in New York City since 1938 and the first unlimited attendance convention since World War II, has attracted more than 100 educators from foreign countries and one delegation of 1,200 teachers from Puerto Rico.

Meet All Week
All phases of modern education, including television teaching and discussions of non-segregation in classrooms, are included in discussions by 99 separate groups and at 25 association department meetings which will continue through Friday.

The first of the series of meetings on "Education and the United Nations" was scheduled for this afternoon.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and U. N. delegates from various countries will address the teachers at six other U. N. programs this week.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called off a scheduled address at the first general assembly in Madison Square Garden tonight, unable to leave Washington during the visit of Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

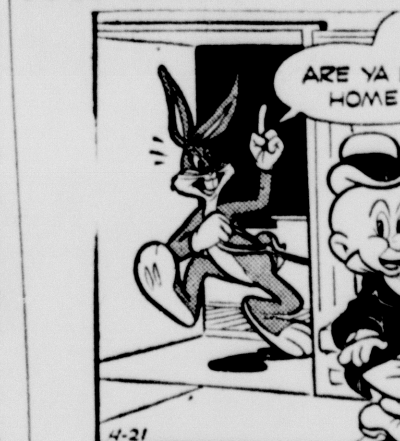

Receives Scholarship

James Govan, valedictorian of the Class of 1954 at Harrisburg Township high school, has received a four-year scholarship to Wabash college at Crawfordsville, Ind., and will attend school there, his father, Emmitt Govan, reported Saturday.

Also, lists of the official board members of the church at that time, roll of officers and teachers in the church school, list of officers and members of the Epworth League, and the Junior Epworth League, list of every church member, and members of the various classes and societies.

The box also revealed that a Mr. J. C. Carner, of McLeansboro, had donated the cornerstone for the old church building. Contractors for the building were J. B. Ford and Robert King, of Harrisburg, and the architect was W. A. Cann, St. Louis. A copy of the advertisement for sealed bids, dated July 23, 1902, was among the contents, as were copies of The Saline County Register, The Harrisburg Chronicle and The Harrisburg Herald. All bore the date of Dec. 12, 1902. A Mt. Carmel District Advocate, Epworth Herald and Central Christian Advocate, all December 1902 issues, were also in the box.

The cornerstone laying ceremonies of the old church were held on December 15, 1902, and were conducted by the Masonic lodge, Thomas Gregg and John B. Lee, then senior and junior wardens of the local lodge respectively, and Will McGuire, of Colorado, are the only members of the group still living who assisted in that ritual.

Mrs. T. R. McCormick, who resides across from the church site, is the only living member of the official board whose names were listed in the old cornerstone.

Items in New Cornerstone Recognition was given at the services yesterday to those present who had also been present at the laying of the cornerstone in 1902. Mr. Thompson placed items in the box designated for the new cornerstone as the Rev. Cummins announced each one to the congregation over the public address system.

The new cornerstone contains the following: Brochure of the Financial Campaign held last summer, 1953. Conference minutes, copy of the New Testament, cornerstone laying program, Upper Room, 1952 Methodist Discipline, The Harrisburg Daily Register and Christian Advocate.

Other items were a picture of the present pastor and his wife, clipping and picture from The Register at the conclusion of the fund drive, picture of the old church building and of the south window in the old church, list of official board members, building committee, all who have contributed to the building fund, Sunday school enrollment with workers and teachers, lists of the WSCS members, Senior and Mother Thompson units of the Wesleyan Service Guild, Senior and Intermediate MYF members, 1954 Vacation Bible school enrollment, list of all pastors who have served the church, assorted pictures made of yesterday's program, and two one dollar bills.

Streets Closed to Traffic
Ken Evans, of the Evans Construction company, contractors for the building, spoke briefly, following which the cornerstone was actually placed in the building with Mr. Thompson wielding the trowel. The prayer of consecration and litany were then directed by the minister. A hymn and benediction concluded the service.

The congregation which gathered for the service sought relief from the brilliant sun underneath the shade trees across the street and near the site of the building. The public address system set up for the occasion enabled all to hear. State police and local officers permitted the closing of Poplar and Webster streets during the service and re-directed the traffic, aiding the program materially.

Transparent Apple Crop Begins Moving to Market

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Transparent apples, the earliest of the Illinois crop, are moving to market now from Southern Illinois orchards, the Illinois Fruit Council said today.

Most growers report good size and quality in their apples. Several other types of apples suitable mainly for cooking and canning will be on the market soon after the transparents.

Picking and marketing of the transparents will continue in the south for about seven to 10 days and then move northward and end about July 20 in the northern part of the state.

Illinois' 1954 apple crop has been estimated at 1,925,000 bushels based on reports from growers and fruit brokers. A full volume crop in the south will offset a decrease in the north caused by spring frost damage and poor pollination.

Only 2 Double Winners in Stock Car Events

Two Racing Programs Planned Saturday And Monday, July 5

Honors were well divided in Saturday night's stock car racing program at the Saline County Speedway with six drivers bringing their cars across the finish line in first place. Only double winners were Sam Brinkley in the P38 and Doc Heilig in the H3.

Fourteen cars lined up for the 25-lap feature race, but four piled up on the east curve on the first lap and the other drivers were flagged down. The track was finally cleared and thirteen cars got away in the second start. Doc Heilig was the winner, with Glen Gibbs a close second.

The handicap affair proved interesting for the fans. It was a team race with Sam Brinkley, Bob Cletcher and Henry Hancock teaming against Doc Heilig, Eddie Hancock and Rodney Myers. Brinkley and Heilig were doing the racing, with their teammates attempting to block out the other.

After much jockeying around during several laps, Hancock and Cletcher boxed Heilig sufficiently to give Brinkley a chance to break away and take the win.

Two racing programs are on tap for the next weekend. The regular Saturday night program will be staged on Monday, July 5, a big holiday program is planned.

All top drivers in this section of the state are expected for the holiday racing, as the program at the local speedway will be the only one in the area on that night.

Results of Saturday's racing: Time trials, Sam Brinkley in the P38, Doc Heilig in the H3 and Henry Hancock in the H66. Time, 19:02.

First heat, Doc Heilig, Sam Brinkley and Henry Hancock. Second heat, Glen Gibbs in the 97, Floyd Barnes in the H35 and Bill Fulkerson in the H62.

Third heat, Gil Wargel in the 65, Eddie Hancock in the K7 and Leonard Grisham in the 7B Jr.

Handicap (team race), Sam Brinkley, Bob Cletcher in the 702 and Henry Hancock defeated Doc Heilig, Eddie Hancock and Rodney Myers in the Marty 1.

Durocher On The Hot Spot IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Leo Ernest Durocher is on the hottest spot in baseball today in what ranks as the greatest sports mystery since the still-unrevealed reason why he was banished from baseball for the 1947 season.

You'd think that life would be sweet for the erstwhile "Lip," what with his New York Giants right up there in the National League race. But it isn't shaping up that way.

If the Giants win the pennant he'll be tagged a "lucky bum" — and if they lose then the only word which the linotypes will drop is the "lucky."

The mystifying part of it all is that despite the unexpected success of the Giants this season, Leo isn't getting any of the credit. He has been picking typewriters out of his balding skull ever since the season started.

Given Short End
This is not an attempt to dissuade my fellow typewriter termites from their chosen way. In the racket it's every man to his credo and let the paragraphs fall where they may. But for my paltry pesos the little leader of Coogan's Bluff is, on quite a few occasions, being given the short end.

The way I read most of my conferees, Leo couldn't pick the winner of a one-horse walkover. He has been blamed for everything from the exaggerated price of coffee to the poor showing of the famed Magic Valley in the Pioneer League.

Yet, there are those Giants, right up at the top. From my long-range seat, I can't see them above third place. The pitching staff doesn't rank with the great mound corps of even the Polo Grounds' spotted past. The catchers can't hit, one of the key infielders has a bad back and infield replacements are all. The outfield is a sensationally strong one — but I haven't heard of them doing the pitching, catching and performing of infield double plays.

Durocher, despite the team's inexplicable rise, has been paddled more than patted. No Credit To Leo Pinch hitters come through, surprise pitching choices win and the Giants roll merrily along at the crest. Yet, to hear some of the fans tell it, these moves are not to be credited to Durocher.

They point out that he juggled his lineup too much. Reflect, if you will, that this is a complimentary boast when you discuss the case of Monsieur Casey Stengel of the Yankees. The five-time world champions brag that Casey hasn't used the same lineup two games running in five years. That makes him a magician. It makes Durocher a bum.

Durocher is planned for falling attendance at the Polo Grounds. Yet they are outdrawing the Yankees and the Dodgers.

Leo is shellacked for not "building up" the confidence of his pitchers. With most of these lackadaisical behemoths it should be the other way around. Nor, they say, does he know when to punt.

And there are the Giants right up at the top. The only inference you can draw is that, without him, the Giants should have clinched the pennant on opening day.

All in all, it's a mystifying situation. Meanwhile, Durocher has clammed up — and who's to blame him.

Dodgers Snap Haddix's Winning Streak in Warm Up for Series with Giants

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer
The Indians and Giants, traditional spring training rivals, hold slim leads in the major league races today because a pitcher with a "dead" arm and a 156 pinch hitter delivered in the clutch.

Hal Newhouser, the once-great left hander who is winding up his big league career in the Cleveland bullpen, fanned the world champion Yankees for six innings Sunday to help the Indians salvage the last of the vital, three-game series, 4-3.

The 33-year-old Newhouser was released last year by the Tigers because they considered his arm had lost its zip.

The victory shoved New York three games behind again and enabled Cleveland to stretch its lead to 1 1/2 games over the runner-up White Sox. The White Sox beat the Red Sox in the second game of a doubleheader, 9-1, after losing, 2-1.

Bobby Hofman, batting for pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm, singled Willie Mays home with the winning run as the Giants rallied for a 10-inning, 3-2 victory over the Cubs. The Giants, trailing 2-0 against Warren Hacker with two out in the ninth, started another "miracle" finish when Willie Lockman homered to tie the score after Davey Williams was safe on an error. It was Chicago's 10th straight loss.

Dodgers Game Behind
The Dodgers, warming up for the opening of their three-game series with the Giants Tuesday night, remained just a game behind New York by defeating the Cardinals, 3-6. Two home runs by Gil Hodges and one apiece by Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella and Junior Gilliam enabled Brooklyn to snap Harvey Haddix's 10-game winning streak. Preacher Roe was the winner but Jim Hughes pitched the last two innings for Brooklyn.

The Phillies swept a doubleheader from the Braves, 4-3 and 2-1, while the Reds split with the Pirates, winning the first, 9-0, and losing the second, 4-3, in the other National league contests.

In the other American league games, Dick Kryhoski drove in the winning run in both games as the Orioles beat the Athletics, 4-3, in 11 innings and 3-2, while the Senators defeated the Tigers, 8-2.

Mike Garcia and Early Wynn, two of Cleveland's trio of top pitchers, lost to the Yankees in the opening games of their series. Bob Lemon, the other member of the

Nash Roms Over New Haven, 18-3
The Nash Motors romped to an easy 18-3 victory over New Haven Sunday in a game played at New Haven. The Nash club collected 21 hits with nine of them for extra bases. Roark won the distance for Nash, allowing seven hits, one walk, three runs and striking out 14.

Hitting honors went to Fulkerson with five out of six trips to the plate, including two doubles. Harrison had four out of six including two triples and others with hits were Stapleton with three, Roark two, K. Nolen three, Wilson two, Sisk and Shevmake one each.

Next Sunday Nash will travel to Johnston City to take on the strong Merchants of that city. Practice is called for Friday at Miners' field at 5 p. m.

"big three," trailed, 1-0, when he hurt his side while swinging his bat in the second inning Sunday and it looked like another Yankee triumph.

Newhouser to Rescue
But Newhouser came in to limit New York to four hits and two runs, one of which scored because Larry Doby fell while chasing a fly ball. Garcia pitched the ninth but Hal got credit for his third victory of the year and boosted his career record against the Yankees to 33-30.

Only 2 Double Winners in Stock Car Events
Two Racing Programs Planned Saturday And Monday, July 5
Honors were well divided in Saturday night's stock car racing program at the Saline County Speedway with six drivers bringing their cars across the finish line in first place. Only double winners were Sam Brinkley in the P38 and Doc Heilig in the H3.
Fourteen cars lined up for the 25-lap feature race, but four piled up on the east curve on the first lap and the other drivers were flagged down. The track was finally cleared and thirteen cars got away in the second start. Doc Heilig was the winner, with Glen Gibbs a close second.
The handicap affair proved interesting for the fans. It was a team race with Sam Brinkley, Bob Cletcher and Henry Hancock teaming against Doc Heilig, Eddie Hancock and Rodney Myers. Brinkley and Heilig were doing the racing, with their teammates attempting to block out the other.
After much jockeying around during several laps, Hancock and Cletcher boxed Heilig sufficiently to give Brinkley a chance to break away and take the win.
Two racing programs are on tap for the next weekend. The regular Saturday night program will be staged on Monday, July 5, a big holiday program is planned.
All top drivers in this section of the state are expected for the holiday racing, as the program at the local speedway will be the only one in the area on that night.
Results of Saturday's racing: Time trials, Sam Brinkley in the P38, Doc Heilig in the H3 and Henry Hancock in the H66. Time, 19:02.
First heat, Doc Heilig, Sam Brinkley and Henry Hancock. Second heat, Glen Gibbs in the 97, Floyd Barnes in the H35 and Bill Fulkerson in the H62.
Third heat, Gil Wargel in the 65, Eddie Hancock in the K7 and Leonard Grisham in the 7B Jr.
Handicap (team race), Sam Brinkley, Bob Cletcher in the 702 and Henry Hancock defeated Doc Heilig, Eddie Hancock and Rodney Myers in the Marty 1.
Fourth heat, Bob Cletcher, Phil Trammel in the Gassy 1, Lynnwood Morris in the V8.
Semi-feature, Henry Hancock, Doc Heilig and Sam Brinkley.
Feature, Doc Heilig, Glen Gibbs and Eddie Hancock.

Runners Hold When Mays Throws

By JIMMY BRESLIN
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA) — A group of fellows were sitting around a big table in the Giants' dressing room and looking out the windows at the green Polo Grounds center field turf.

They were talking about throwing and Garry Schumacher, the front office man, was telling about some of the better arms he had seen.

"Joe Moore," he said quietly, "He could throw real good for us. So could Hank Lieber. The old Braves had a guy, Gene Moore, who got you out, too. Then of course you got Ott (Mel Ott) and the guy in Brooklyn, that Carl Furillo."

"Yeah," said Sal Maglie, "I guess they could throw, but you just give me Willie. You just put him in there behind me and nobody's gonna score on fly balls off old Sal. He just throws the ball in there like it was shot out of a cannon."

"I was just putting in those names for conversation," Schumacher said. "When you begin to pin-point it, you got to come out with Willie. He just throws it as if he were handing you the ball. No effort at all—only he throws the thing a quarter of a mile. You got to look pretty good to see if anybody else had anything better."

Mays began to chase high fun-goes.

"How do I throw a ball?" Willie said. "Well, I got my own way to do the thing. I catch the ball different. I mean I'm talking about a routine fly now with a man on third. Line drives and balls you got to chase—you catch them any way you can.

"But on the fly that a man tries to score on. I catch the ball down at my belt line and over to the right side a bit. Like a basket catch. Most guys say you've got to reach up for the ball. I don't show boat catchin' it down here. I do it for a reason."

"When I catch the ball, my throwing arm is low. Right with my glove. All I have to do is whip it up and throw. I don't have to catch the ball up around my neck, then bring my arm down and then up again to throw. I save time."

"I didn't pick this up overnight. Took me two years to learn to catch a ball right this way. It's the hardest way to do it."

How, Willie was asked, does he throw. Does he have any special way of heaving the ball to nip guys at the plate or on the bases?

"Now," was his answer. "I just throw it overhand. I grip the ball on the seams with these two fingers here—my index and middle finger—and throw real overhand."

"Always try to be moving when I catch the ball."

Willie was asked about some of his more remarkable throws—pegs which have been passed around the league until third base coaches now act as traffic lights—red ones—when he is set to leave.

"Oh, that's for you fellas to know," Willie said. "I don't know 'bout things like that. I just get 'em and let 'em go."

Mays threw out Billy Cox of the Dodgers during the big 1951 stretch drive after robbing Carl Furillo of a two-base hit to right center field. He whirled and threw on a line. They'll be talking of that one for a couple of lifetimes, mentioning it as one of the all-time great plays.

This year Willie Mays went back for a ball in Milwaukee, caught it and threw out Henry Aaron at the plate on a one-hop strike that knocked everybody's hat off.

Mitchell Shells Lose to Merchants

The Mitchell Shells, leaders of the Kiwanis league, tightened up when they went up against the older, experienced Harrisburg Merchants' Sunday and came out on the short end of the encounter, 15-1.

Gene Trammel and Lefty Kennedy hurried for the Merchants and allowed only two hits, a single by Jimmy Cummings and a double by Powell. Cummings was also the sparkplug for defense for the losers.

McNew with a home run and Gribble with a homer and Guley and F. Williams with triples led the Merchants' batting attack. Hay, Elms, Romonosky, Spurlock and Kennedy also had hits.

Bob Williams, Guley and Logsdon pulled some good fielding plays to rob the youngsters out of base hits.

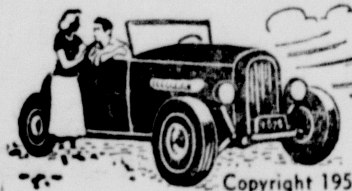

Next Sunday the Carterville Stars will play the Merchants at the town park diamond and on Monday the team will travel to Thebes for a game.

STREET ROD

by Henry Gregor Felsen
Copyright 1953 by Henry Gregor Felsen. Printed by arrangement with the publishers, Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Ricky Madison's car craze has shown itself in many ways, but his pride in the "hot rod" which he is building himself has led him into trouble. As his friends rib him, one of them makes a remark disrespectful to Sharon Bruce, Ricky's girl friend. A fight with Link Allen results.

They looked at each other and smiled. "You, uh, got any plans for the evening?" Ricky asked. "Nothing special." "Want to go roller-skating?" Sharon nodded. "My skates are home." "We'll pick them up. How about Selmar? It's late to go to Des Moines." "I like Selmar's rink. I wish we had one in Dellville." "You know good old Dellville. The nothing town." Just like that, without working at it, Sharon was his girl. Reaching home, Ricky went through the house like a whirlwind taking the steps three at a time on the way up, coming down in three big jumps. "Ricky!" his father yelled from the living room. Ricky went into the living room carrying his skates, his face beet red. "Dad... Mom... I'm going skating at the Selmar rink... uh... I'm taking Sharon... Bye... I won't be late." For a long moment Ricky's parents looked at each other. Then they began to laugh. "Sharon's a nice girl," said Ricky's mother.

"I know," Madison said. "Sweet and pretty. Anyway, I think Ricky is suddenly going to be less of a problem. Wait and see. He'll be yelling for a chance at college." "I'm glad he chose Sharon," Mrs. Madison said. Mr. Madison picked up the Des Moines paper and looked at the front page. It showed the picture of a smashed car, and the headline, TEEN-AGER KILLED, THREE HURT IN WRECK. "This takes the fun out of it," Ricky's father said. Ricky and Sharon skated well together. Side by side, holding hands, they matched stride for stride in an effortless, gliding circle. When they knew the last dance was coming up Sharon sensed the change in Ricky. She could feel by his arm that he was tense. He was looking around at other couples, and when some of them left the floor, he suddenly guided her to the sidelines where they removed their skates. He went out as fast as he could pull her along. They heard several motors starting, and Ricky groaned. "We'll be the last ones out of here!" Ricky had the car started in a flash. Lights were going on all around them, and cars were moving. Ricky shifted into low and shot ahead. Cars of every description, from every corner of the lot, were leaping and bucking across the parking lot. Clouds of dust rolled up from under spinning wheels. Horns honked, tooted and blatted. "Hang on!" he shouted. With his thumb pressing the horn he drove his coupe into the center of the pack. Dumpy shapes of other rods loomed up suddenly, then faded; the roar of straight pipes was deafening. Ricky bore down steadily, shooting through holes between cars. In the din of motors and horns and shouts there was an occasional blunt sound as unlucky drivers tangled fenders. Ricky was hunched over the wheel, his head forward, his eyes wide, his lips pulled back in a grin of wild excitement. A car loaded with boys and girls tried to cut across Ricky's line of travel. His horn blatted and he drove forward, happily aggressive. "Give, crazy... give!" Ricky yelled. The other car gave, and he shot past in a burst of triumphant speed. A coupe like his own appeared at his side, holding with him hub to hub. He was being chosen. He cracked the gas and shot ahead. "Ricky!" "Ricky!" He didn't even hear her. The race was on. They would have to stop when they reached the highway, and the winner would be the one who back off last. Ricky was like one hypnotized as he hurtled through the dust toward the highway. Then, luckily, the other driver backed off. Ricky pulled his foot from the gas pedal. Second gear and quick stabs at the brake brought him sliding to a stop just as he reached the highway. Ricky saw a small break in highway traffic and nosed into it. The car he cut off honked. Ricky laughed derisively, and shoved the gas pedal to the floor. Ricky laughed. "Guess we showed 'em."

She looked at him with widened eyes that were serious and afraid. "I told you, Ricky. I didn't like you when you tried to show off. I still don't." "I wasn't showing off," Ricky protested, grinning. "Ricky, listen. Slow down or let me out." "I... all right..." He cut his speed, but pouted like a child. A moment later a new sedan swept by them, its red tail-lights pulling away rapidly. "Now that guy will go around bragging that his car took a rod," Ricky complained. "Grow up, Ricky," Sharon said. Ricky's right hand dropped away from the steering wheel. He moved it in the darkness until it touched Sharon's hand. Then he paused, waiting, his heart pounding. There was a slight answering pressure. The speedometer indicated 45, then 40. A car swept past, honking. Ricky hardly cared. (To Be Continued)

Press for Collective Defense in Talks

plans for collective defense to meet either eventuality. "We are both convinced that if at Geneva the French government is confronted with demands which prevent an acceptable agreement regarding Indochina, the international situation will be seriously aggravated." On atomic energy the President and the prime minister said: "We also discussed technical co-operation on atomic energy. We agreed that both our countries would benefit from such cooperation to the fullest extent allowed by U. S. legislation."

Their longest, most detailed statement concerned the European Defense Community and the general situation in Western Europe. Comment on EDC Treaty

They stated together a firm conviction that further delay by France and Italy in ratification of the EDC treaty "would damage the solidarity of the Atlantic nations."

"We wish to reaffirm that the program for European unity inspired by France, of which the EDC is only one element, so promising to peace and prosperity in Europe, continues to have our firm support."

Mr. Eisenhower and Sir Winston also agreed that the German Federal Republic should "take its place as an equal partner in the community of Western Nations, where it can make its proper contribution to the defense of the free world."

In a one-line preamble to the communique, the chief executive and the British leader characterized their talks as "friendly and fruitful."

"We have considered various subjects of mutual and world interest," they said.

Churchill Leaves White House

Mr. Churchill moved out of the White House at 12:30 p. m. today. For practical purposes, this marked the end of the Eisenhower-Churchill discussions. Churchill, however, will return to the White House Tuesday shortly before noon for a final talk with the President about their "agreed declaration."

Churchill went to the Statler Hotel to address the Washington press and radio corps at lunch. Then he will take up residence at the British Embassy after having spent three nights in the Rose Suite on the second floor of the White House.

Court Decision Costs 14 Dogs $15,000 Estate

PARIS, Ill. — Fourteen heirs, all dogs, stood mute today on a court decision which cost them an inheritance valued at $15,000.

A bank president, William Lucas, admitted he hadn't talked it over with the dogs. But he and his attorney were "pretty sure" the dogs would be content with the decision handed down Saturday by Judge Robert F. Cotton.

The order substituted 45 human beings and the Democratic Party as beneficiaries.

The dogs, now sheltered by the Humane Society, Terre Haute, Ind., were remembered in the will of their late master, Otis R. Arbuckle. He set up a trust fund to care for them throughout their lives.

Judge Cotton ruled that Arbuckle left a loophole in his will by trying to name the dogs directly as his heirs. If he had chosen an organization as beneficiary to care for the dogs, the will might have stood up, he said.

The judge decided on a 50-50 split of the estate between the Democratic National Committee and 45 cousins who filed suit to break the will. Arbuckle had designated the political party as heir in case all dogs died.

"The dogs were his closest friends, he felt, and he had no body to whom he felt indebted," Lucas, president of the Edgar County National Bank and an executor of the will, said.

"I imagine the dogs will be quite delighted about the party getting a share of their inheritance," Lucas said. "Knowing Mr. Arbuckle, I feel certain the dogs also are Democrats."
